FRIDAY MORNING, MARCH 5, 1858 A SINGULAR TRIAL.

A trial lately came on at Turin, which excited considerable interest. A small farmer, Antonio Costamagna, aged 63, father of a numerous family, was tried for using abusive language towards the King. The prisoner was dressed like a peasant, and had a very Bayard Taylor, $1.25. composed and respectable appearance. The indictment set forth that on the 18th of Sepshooting, with some pesons attached to the court, on part of the royal domain near Cher- the author of "Thirty Years' View," $1. asco, when a hare started up, and endeavored strange dog suddenly made its appearance, D. $2 Just published, and for sale by and, going in pursuit was very near reaching it, when or e of the keepers fired and wounded the dog. The prisoner then came up, and declaring himself to be the owner of the King, reproached him in bitter terms with Svo. cloth, $2.50. having given an order to fire on the dog, and even uttered threats. Being arrested for this cision of the Supreme Court in the Dred Scott latter act, and being told that it was the King | case, by Hon. Thos. H. Benton, $1. to whom he had spoken, Costamagna gave as an excuse that he had not been aware of the fact; but be not the less declared that he looked on the order given to fire on his faithful dog as a most ur just act. On the trial, the prisoner's counsel presented certificates from various most respectable persons, aftirming that Costamagna was a man of unexcep- cloth $1.25. tionable character, against whom nothing had ever been brought forward. In answer to questions from the president, the prisoner stated that he knew nothing of the quality of basing heard one of them whom he had since | sale by learned to be the King, say, "Fire at the dog," be felt indignant at such an injustice; and when he came up, and found his faithful companion wounded, he had certainly expressed himself warmly. A keeper, named Freecards, deposed further, that when the prisoner menaced the King, he added the words, "It is not now as it was formerly!" and that the King, in returning home, had more than once inquired what the man could "Court of London," "Lord Saxondale," "Mary have meant by that exclamation. After a Price," &c., 50c. very able address from the prisoner's counsel, the Court condemned the accused to three years' imprisonment. Costamagna evinced considerable emotion on bearing the sentence, but immediately afterwards, recovering his composure, declaring that he had full confidence in the royal elemency. The prinoner's expectation was not disappointed; as was informed that the King bad given orders and Declamation, by Samuel R. Gummer, price for his immediate liberation, and that he was $1.00. at liberty to retire.

A STORY OF A JACK-KNIFE.

The Boston Ledger tells the following:--In 1786 a youth, then residing in Maine owned a jack-knife which he, being of a semewhat trading disposition, sold for a galion of West India rum. This he retailed, and with the proceeds purchased two galions, and eventually a barrel, which was followed in due time with a large stock --In a word, he got rich, and became the Squire of the district through the possession and sale of the jack-knife and an indomitable trading industry. He died worth property in real e-tate and money value for $80,000. This was divided by testament among four children-three boys and a girl. Luck, which seemed to have been the guardian angel of the father, deserted the children; for every folly and extravagance they could engage in seemed to occupy their exclusive attention and cultivation. The daughter married unfortunately, and her patrimony was soon thrown away by her spendthrift of a husband. The sons were no more fortunate, and two of them died of dissipation and in poverty. The daughter also died .--The last of the family, for many years past has lived on the kindness of those who knew bim in the days of prosperity, as pride would not allow him to go to the poor-larm. A few days ago he died, suddenly and unattended, in a barn where he had laid himself down to take a drunken sleep. On his pokets being examined all that was found in them was a small piece of string and a jackknife! So the fortune that began with the implement of that kind left its simple duplicate. We leave the moral to be drawn in whatever fashion it may suggest itself to the reader, simply stating that the story is a true one, and all the facts well known to AUCTION SALES.

BY S. J. MCCORMICK-AUCTIONEER. TRUSTEE'S SALE OF A FARM NEAR ALEXANDRIA, VA .- Under authority 75 cents. of a deed of trust, dated on the 10th day of November, 1856, and only of record in Book Y. No 3 page 126, of the Fairfax County, Virginia, Land Records, the und raigned, as Trustee. will offer for sale, at public auction, on Saturday, the 13th day of March next, at Samuel Catte's Tavern. West End, near Alexandria, Va., a TRACT OF LAND, in the said County of Fairlax, containing about FIFTY ACRES, adjoining the lands of Mrs. R. M. Scott and Thompson Jav ns. The said FARM is situated on the "old road," leading from A exandria to Backlick Church-about four miles from the butter place—has on it a comfortable DWELLING, good Barn and Stable—is said to be well adapted to the growth of the crop- usually cultivated in that region and particularly well suited for a Market Garden. The charter of this Company offers more to vorable advantages to the farmer and others. than any other company chartered in the State, by insuring with or without a premium note -If the applicant prefer, he can pay the full amount of the premium in cash, or by effecting a cash insurance for two years, the insured saves oneeighth of the amount he would otherwise have to pay: or by becoming a member, and giving a small premium note, the insured saves nearly one half of the amount charged by Stock Comnanies, when insuring from year to year. This is the advantage resulting from the combination of THE CASH AND MUTUAL PRINCIPLE

This company commenced issuing Policies against loss or damage by fire, on the 16th of March, 1854, since which time over five thou sand seven hundred persons have insured and be come members of the Company, and over that thousand dollars have been paid for losses. Having trebled our business during the past year, we teel grateful for the liberal patronage pestowed upon the Company thus far, and form flattering prospects of future usefulness. The Directors hope and believe that by prudence caution and a rigid system of economy, they will establish for this Company a reputation and Styles that have been furnished as hereto- for cheapness and safety, not surpassed by any Company in the U. States.

All differences in settlement of losses, may be determined by three disinterested arbitrators the County where such loss happened to be mi tually chosen by the insured and the Company DIRECTORS:
